

Texas' Movie Tavern to build Little Rock theater

By David Smith

Posted: January 28, 2016

Movie Tavern of Fort Worth, a movie theater/restaurant chain, plans to build a multiple-screen theater at the Gateway Town Center in Little Rock, said Colliers International of Arkansas, a commercial real estate firm that is brokering the deal.

Movie Tavern expects to begin construction this year in the Gateway development at Interstates 30 and 430, with a projected opening date next year. The Outlets of Little Rock mall opened last year in the Gateway Town Center.

The theater will feature 11 screens and will have 46,000 square feet.

Movie Tavern, which has 187 screens in 22 locations across nine states, combines first-run movies with chef-crafted menu selections and a full bar.

Colliers also said a Taziki's Mediterranean Cafe and Gateway Nail Salon and Spa will be new tenants at the Gateway Town Center.